While all the Drake families seem to use the silver shield with the red dragon on their coat of arms, there are a great many different crests used by individual Drake lines.

INTRODUCTION

In beginning this book my intention was to trace our Drake family back to the their original settlements on the eastern coast of the United States. This I have been unable to accomplish as I fail to find the ancestors of a Jeremiah Drake of Plainfield, New Jersey, who married Elizabeth Dennis, mother of the children whose record appears in this book, and married for his second wife, Elizabeth Wooden. He was born April 11, 1726, died 1801, and it is known that his son, Dennis, was born in New Jersey, November 1, 1768. If anyone has or can provide information relative to the birthplace or parents of this Jeremiah Drake, I would be happy to receive it.

The Drake name is of Latin origin and means "one who draws or leads." With the growing interest of Americans in genealogical records and family histories there has come a sincere pride in ancestry and the coat of arms bearing the family name. Some feel that a coat of arms is as important a part of a genealogy as the family names. A reproduction of the Drake coat of arms may be found elsewhere in the book.

As a pioneer of his family, my great-grandfather, Dennis Drake, born in 1826 in Washington county, Pennsylvania, moved with his parents to Athens, Ohio, where he married. Later, after spending a few years in Edgar County, Illinois, he finally moved to Iowa settling on a farm near Russell in Lucas County where he spent the rest of his life. Many of his descendants still live near his Iowa home. Contents of this book concern the ancestors and descendants of this Dennis Drake, Number 25, in the record.

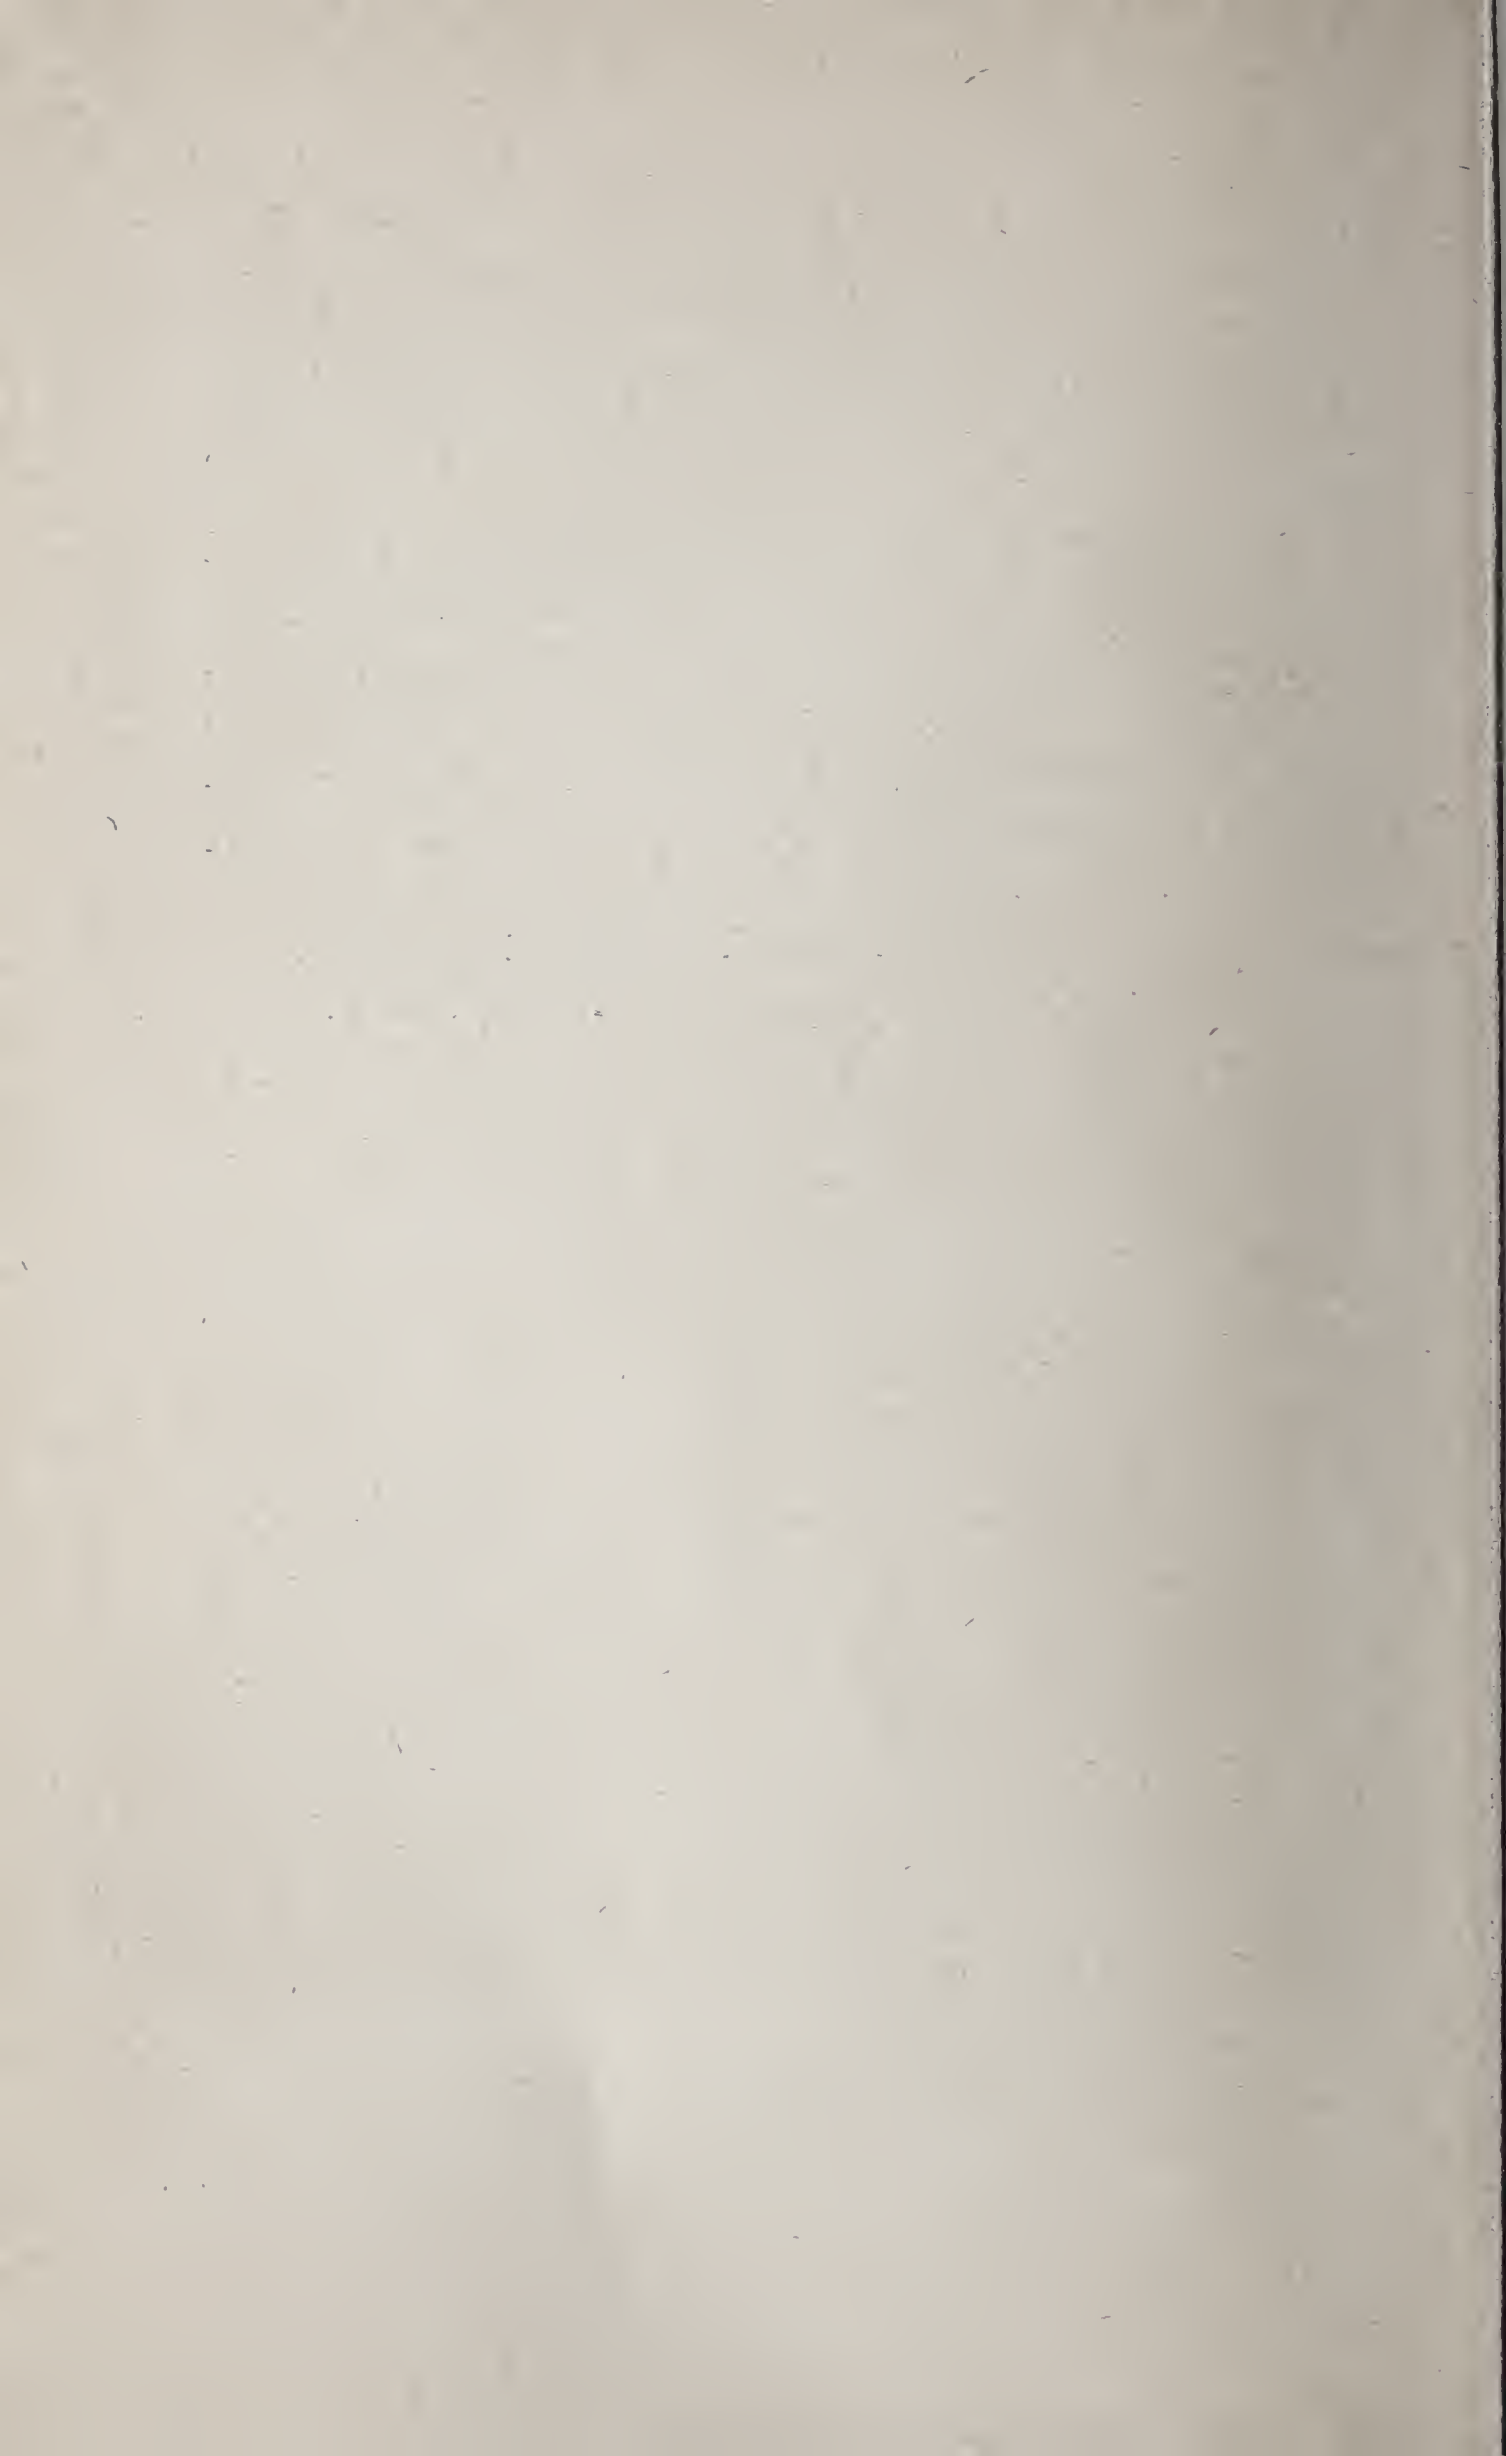

The record has not been compiled in a few short months but is the outgrowth of my own personal interest, several years of searching plus much correspondence to secure this material and the encouragement from relatives to make the information available to all. I extend grateful thanks to all those relatives and friends who so generously assisted me in securing this material.

In selecting the pictures used in this book, I have chosen mostly to use kodak pictures which will bring to mind these people as many of us living now remember them.

A genealogy is never complete because it grows as a family grows. It is my earnest desire that this will be an incentive for you to continue the record of our family through the years. Furthermore, as you gather this additional material regarding either ancestors or descendants of Dennis Drake, I would appreciate having it sent to me.

HAZEL ESTHER DRAKE,
Rippey, Iowa.

Dennis and Caroline (Patterson) Drake. Dennis Drake, the one about whom this book is centered, may be identified with No. 25 in the record.
